Ease into the excitement

Use Beam on external areas, like your clitoris or other sensitive spots. If direct contact feels too intense, start by gliding Beam over your underwear or a soft layer of fabric. It's a gentle way to ease into the sensations and find what feels good.

Add it to your routine

Beam is the perfect sidekick for partnered play. Use it on external areas during foreplay or as an extra spark during penetrative sex for added stimulation.

Get creative with your touch

Beam isn't just for the clitoris! Explore other sensitive areas, like the entrance of the vagina, inner thighs, or anywhere that craves attention. Whether it's you or your partner, let curiosity lead the way.
